

I am against any relaxation of the ownership rules. If anything, they should be tightened. When five companies control a major portion of information reporting, it seems to me to be a near monopoly.